Peters: Horsford is Pelosi Puppet

Today Sam Peters, United States Air Force veteran, Bronze Star recipient, and Republican candidate for Congress in Nevada's 4th District, asked who is Congressman Steve Horsford representing in Washington and why no town hall meeting this Thanksgiving break.

"Who is Horsford working for? Why no town hall meeting this break?" questioned the US Air Force veteran Peters. "It is clear he doesn't want to answer the tough questions, because he is nothing more than a Pelosi puppet."

"All substantive work in DC has stalled due to impeachment games. Everyone sees this do-nothing Congress for what it is. That's why Horsford won't debate me on impeachment and did not hold a town hall meeting."

Earlier this year, Horsford was appointed whip. He is a 'heavy' in getting members of Congress to vote with Pelosi, which means he fully owns the impeachment debacle.

"We need a Congressman who works for us not Pelosi. It is time to put people first not use power to sway members' votes," said Peters.

Two weeks ago, Peters challenged Horsford to an hour long debate regarding impeachment. Horsford has refused to respond to date. "My invitation to debate still stands. I believe that Horsford should explain why impeachment is so imperative to our nation. On the other hand, I think Congress should do their job and stop all political gamesmanship."

Dear Congressman Horsford,

Since last January when the new Congress was sworn into office, Democrat leadership has been consumed with partisan politics. Like so many Nevadans, I strongly believe that Congress is more interested in overturning the 2016 election results than doing their job. Impeachment is the latest tactic.

You voted for impeachment. Your constituents deserve to know why and how this should be Congress' priority. I believe that the people deserve better than a do-nothing Congress. That's why I am challenging you to a one-hour debate on impeachment.

I will meet you in an open forum at any time and any place in the district.

Will you defend your vote for impeachment? I am happy to defend my position.

You took campaign funds from Speaker Pelosi, hence, you must be committed to her leadership. Won't you defend what is not happening in Congress for the people?

Once again, I am willing to meet you anywhere in the district to debate this issue. Failure to debate will send a message to your constituents that you just went along with Pelosi and disregarded what was in the best interest of our State and our Country.

Sincerely,

Sam Peters
Republican Congressional Candidate

Sam Peters in the News!

Today Sam Peters, United States Air Force veteran, Bronze Star recipient, and Republican candidate for Congress in Nevada's 4th District, accused Congressman Steve Horsford of hiding behind DCCC ads instead of facing the music on impeachment. Peters offered again to meet Horsford anywhere to debate impeachment.

This week as impeachment is proceeding in Washington, the DCCC released digital ads in support of protecting Horsford in an obvious attempt to change the subject. "Whether you like or dislike our President people recognize that this has been a waste of tax dollars and time. These ads prove Horsford was wrong to support impeachment. The DCCC has come running to the rescue for their reliable Pelosi puppet," said Peters. "I am asking again for the Congressman to debate me. He needs to defend his vote—not hide behind Pelosi paid for ads." Several weeks ago Peters has sent a letter to Congressman Horsford stating that he is willing to meet him any time and any place in the 4th Congressional district to debate. Horsford has refused to respond.

"The people deserve answers! Horsford needs to explain why impeachment is more important than balancing the budget, working to secure our borders, and ending the opioid epidemic," said Peters. "It is time for Congress to do their jobs for the people. The political gamesmanship needs to stop. We get it that the Democrats don't like President Trump, but that doesn't give them the right to neglect their duties. If I had neglected my duties while proudly serving in the United State Air Force, I would have been court-martialed," stated Peters.

Peters: DNC Should Pay Congressional Salaries –Not the Taxpayers

Today Sam Peters, United States Air Force veteran and Republican candidate for Congress in Nevada's 4th District, called upon the Democrat National Committee to pay Congressional salaries during this impeachment political gamesmanship.

"Impeachment is not helping the economy. It is not making our country more secure and it is certainly not making health care more affordable. It is nothing more than a Democrat National Committee tactic attempting to hurt our President going into an election year. If the DNC wants to play politics in Congress, then they should pay," said Peters. "The taxpayers should not foot the bill for their campaign tactics."

Peters is proposing that the DNC send a check to the United States Treasury to cover the salaries for Congress while impeachment is the top priority for the Democrat leadership.

"Like most Americans, I have had enough of the games and politics consuming Pelosi and her gang. Congress needs to do their jobs and stop wasting taxpayers' dollars and time. Either get back to work or the DNC should fund this gross abuse of Congressional power.

Peters is a veteran of the United States Air Force. He served his country in Afghanistan, Iraq, Panama, and Korea.
